

SAVE THE DATE

March 31-April 1, 2016

for the University of Baltimore School of Law's groundbreaking conference, "The Fate of Scholarship in American Law Schools."

The conference will bring together prominent legal academics, judges and lawyers to explore the role and future of legal scholarship in the 21st century. Topics will include emerging forms of scholarship and the relationship among legal scholarship, journalism and digital media.

Jack M. Balkin, Knight Professor of Constitutional Law and the First Amendment at Yale Law School, will be the keynote speaker.

Questions? Contact University of Baltimore School of Law Associate Dean for Faculty Scholarship C.J. Peters at cpeters@ubalt.edu or 410.837.4509.

Visit law.ubalt.edu/scholarship2016 for more information.