Thanks and Praise

On Monday evening, October 4, 2010, the LCDO hosted the 2nd Annual Judicial Reception to thank the members of the Maryland Judiciary for their longstanding commitment to the University of Baltimore law students and graduates. This year’s highlight was the special recognition given to Prof. Byron Warnken and Barbara Coyle for their important contributions to UB law students and graduates through the successful implementation and management of the Judicial EXPLOR and Internship Programs. Their combined efforts have played a significant role in the law school’s leadership in placing students and graduates in coveted positions with the judiciary in Maryland.

With both humor and gratitude, the speakers at the reception, including Nathan Volke, Trey Perkins, the Honorable Marvin Garbis, and the Honorable Timothy Meredith, honored the professor and conveyed the law school’s appreciation to the many judges in attendance. All levels of both state and federal courts were represented and attending students enjoyed a casual and potentially rewarding evening of networking.

Thank you to all who helped make this evening such a success.
Attention 2012 graduates!

If you are interested in judicial clerkship opportunities on the Maryland Court of Appeals or Maryland Court of Special Appeals for the 2012-2013 term, the LCDO will conduct workshops covering the whys, whats, hows and whens of state appellate clerkships, including details on the application process (you need only attend one workshop).
