Dear Students,

Welcome to Introduction to Lawyering Skills/Civil Procedure! In this course, which combines an introduction to legal writing and analysis with Civil Procedure, one of the most challenging subjects in the law school curriculum, we will confront many challenges, but we will confront them together.

For the first classes on August 17 in ILS, please read pages 41-55 of the Neumann book (you will see what that means from the syllabus, which has also been posted).

If you have any questions about either of these courses, or would simply like to introduce yourselves, please email me at jlynch@ubalt.edu.

I hope that you enjoy the rest of your summer.
I eagerly look forward to meeting and working with you in the fall.

Sincerely,
Jack Lynch
